

Dreams or Reality? Doing gender studies and creating equality and diversity at universities in post-pandemic times (UGEN)

Seed Funding

Sustainability

European Studies

The project aims to: (1) strengthen the nascent network of gender studies institutes/centres and scholars across the UNA Europa partner institutions in order to explore research and teaching synergies, share good practice and innovation, and build collaborations; (2) bring our collective research expertise to bear on the pressing problem of gender equality and diversity in the sector and our own institutions, particularly in the pandemic and post-pandemic contexts. Thus, the project proposes the creation of a UNA GENDER and EQUALITY NETWORK (UGEN) to progress gender studies and raise its profile as an interdisciplinary field of excellence, to counter marginality, and to study issues of EDI (equality, diversity and inclusion) in University settings.
