Creating a collaborative Una Europa Service-Learning network to transform teaching and learning in the European Space of Higher Education

Seed Funding

European Studies

A “Participatory - Action - Research” with the aim to collect practices and experiences around evaluation and define shared guidelines/recommendations across UNA Europa universities. Each institution organized qualitative data collection through focus groups and interviews, with faculty, students and local community partners to discuss the who, what and how of SL assessment and evaluation. At the end of the project (march 2022) a written report and a video with the main results and recommendations will be produced. The research will contribute to define a common evaluation framework of SL experiences, facilitating cross-European exchanges and the development of shared learning pathways.
