

1Europe Annual Report

2021-2022

Foreword

Peter Lievens

1Europe Coordinator

Over the past year I have been particularly proud of the ground-breaking work of our academic and professional community, who cross the boundaries of cultures, languages, institutions and disciplines every day to develop true European joint programmes together. Our Joint Bachelor in European Studies will recruit the first student cohort in September 2022. Our Joint Doctorate in Cultural Heritage will launch its courses in February 2022. These both exemplify the Una Europa commitment to co-developing an educational environment fit for the Graduates of the Future.

We are very pleased to see the European Degree high on the political agenda of the French Presidency of the Council of the EU and we are looking forward to sharing our experience to inform this policy framework. It is the right time for a strong European Degree framework that acts as an enabler to break down existing bottlenecks at national levels and supports universities across Europe in their ambition to make joint degrees a reality.

In the area of life-long learning, we have also taken the first concrete steps with our Joint Micro-Credentials in Sustainability and a Life Long Learning Certificate in Data Science and AI. These flexible and inclusive pathways to high-quality learning experiences embody the Una Europa guiding pedagogical principles of multidisciplinary, multilingual and research-based education.

James Smith

Chair of Una Europa Board of Directors

We are delighted to have recently welcomed Leiden University as the newest member of the Una Europa alliance. As one of the leading international research universities in Europe, Leiden University will strengthen our joint research capacity and also create exciting new opportunities for our students, including the further development of flexible learning pathways, innovative online and blended learning and mobility models.

This is a crucial time for Una Europa, as we start to prepare the next phase of our alliance for the further roll-out of the European Universities Initiative and our broader Una Europa 2030 Strategy, where we are co-developing our vision with the Una Europa community. At the same time, we continue to invest in and further develop our governance structures to ensure representation of all stakeholders, which is key to ensuring the long-term sustainability of our alliance and building a true sense of belonging in our communities.

As we continue into the next phase of Una Europa, I am particularly looking forward to further developing our collaboration with partners around the world, especially institutions on the African continent, to tackle global challenges together and achieve impact globally.
